

...there are no past or future events or times; what makes something past or future is how the world stands right now.

(Peter Ludlow, 1999)